

George Hunt

George attended Clearwater High School from 1965 to 1967. During those years he played Football, Basketball and Baseball. He lettered in baseball all four years. He was on the all county football team in 1966, the all county baseball team in 1966 and 1967 and was on the All State Baseball team in 1967. He was drafted by the Houston Astros in 1967.

George attended the University of Tennessee from 1969 to 1971. He played football and baseball for the Volunteers. George was a place kicker and was on the all time SEC Football team from 1954 to 1974, and the All SEC top ten scorers in 1971. George also played in the American Football Coaches Association All America Game in 1972. He was drafted by the Cleveland Browns in 1972. He then played for the Baltimore Colts in 1973 and the New York Giants in 1975.