Thank you for your help!

FIRST GRADE FUN

Dear First Grade Parents,

Here is what we have in store for December! This month, in science we will be exploring different ways to sort objects. We will be discussing weight, texture, temperature, size, color, shape, and an object's ability to sink or float.

- Talking with your first grader about different objects and practice describing them.
- Give your student multiple objects and have them sort them. Then have them explain how they sorted them.

In math we will continue our second unit on numbers within 20. Some ways you can support this learning is by:

- Practicing addition
- Practicing subtraction
- Using everyday events to have students solve word problems. (For example: If you have 9 pieces of candy and you give me 4 pieces of candy, how many pieces of candy do you have now?)

In reading we are finishing Module C. In this unit we are revisiting characters, setting, events, and retelling stories. Some ways you can support this learning is by:

- Read a story with your first grader and discuss if it is fiction or nonfiction.
- Read a fiction book and ask about the characters.
- Read a fiction book and ask about the setting.
- Read a fiction book and ask about the events.
- Read a fiction book and have the students retell the story to you.

4th Grade Corner

It is Winter MAP testing season so attendance is monumental. Please practice your multiplication facts as having a strong foundation will help with other math work. As Winter Break is quickly approaching please read, use MyOn, and try to get 45 minutes per subject on I-ready.

PE Corner

Parents,

The PE department would just like to say that they are proud of how hard all the students have been working at learning dribbling, throwing and catching skills! I have been impressed by how quickly our students are perfecting their skills and even showing them off to others!

I hope you can encourage your students to keep up their hard work and determination to be successful! We truly have a school full of superstars!!

For the month of December, we are going to continue practicing our basketball and soccer dribbling skills while incorporating other offensive strategies for successful gameplay. We will also be teaching jump rope and hula hoop skills, while playing fun invasion strategy games like capture the flag. We hope everyone has a safe yet active winter break!
